

Can I donate more to cover the non-profit's processing fees?

Some sites will allow donors to cover the processing fees of a donation. To do so, check the checkbox beneath the donation amount that prompts to cover processing fees. If this box is checked, the donor will be charged the amount indicated next to the checkbox. This amount will also be visible to the non-profit. However, on the fundraising page, only the initially selected donation amount (i.e., not including processing fees) will be displayed.
